- ❖ McLane is dedicated to helping our customers make a significant business impact. But when it comes to the environment, we do just the opposite. That's why we're making dramatic improvements in the way we work that will reduce our environmental footprint and make us a better, more efficient company. Like investing $100 million in energy-conserving automation systems. Installing fluorescent lighting and motion detectors in our distribution centers. Even lowering our truck speeds to conserve fuel and reduce CO₂ emissions. And that's just the beginning. Because advantages like these benefit us all.
