This action is being taken out of an abundance of caution and Diamond's commitment to food safety as a result of the expansion of a recall by Setton Pistachio of Terra Bella, Inc. On April 6, 2009, Setton expanded their voluntary recall to their entire 2008 crop. The pistachios used in this one Emerald product were included in Setton's expanded recall, and as a result, we request that you dispose of products in your possession from the list above.

Diamond has put on hold all pistachio products and has completed testing of our equipment and all pistachio inventory. All tests have come back negative. The extremely small volume of this product relative to Diamond Foods total production does not preclude the company from taking every step to guarantee the highest safety for our consumers.
